Forest Productivity Model Update – July 2003

The next step of this project is to investigate the availability of using TERRA and AQUA MODIS data as inputs into the model dataset. Currently, NPP and LAI data are available from the TERRA sensor and climate data (i.e. daily precipitation) will soon be available from the AQUA sensor. In addition to using MODIS data, primary datasets will be refined where more spatially and temporally accurate data is available.
